Photo 9 shows the thumb in it's new position on the face of the card as the card finishes it's rotation, the card is gripped between only the thumb and the index finger as shown in photo 10. The back of the card is now facing the audience. During these motions the thumb remains pretty well hidden behind the cover of the card and the fingers of the right hand. There is really little reason to hide the Thumb Tip though, it is not suspected and should not be noticed even if flashed to the audience. Also, at this point the attention has just been drawn to the left palm. That is where the action is going to take place.

Now you must lay the card on the left palm in the position shown in photo 11. As this is done, the Thumb Tip is secretly deposited underneath the card. Photo 12 shows the position of the Thumb Tip with the card removed for clarity.
